City Needs 200 Men on W.P.A. Jobs

Previous Relief Status Has Nothing to Do With Eligibility, Is Announcement

Conference Held

City Engineering Staff and Hallinan Talk Over Problem

Mayor C. J. Heiselman announced this morning that he had been visited yesterday by Lester W. Herzog, state administrator of the W.P.A. from Albany, who announced for Kingston a new eligibility policy for employment on the local W.P.A. in order to obtain sufficient men to complete the projects now under way within the city, principally the new sewer treatment plant and the two miles of sewer interceptors and siphons which must be built.

The new rule provides that men may be certified for W.P.A. employment by the local welfare department during the present emergency, if the resources of a family or unattached individual are insufficient to provide a reasonable subsistence compatible with decency and health.

No Home Relief

This means that it is not necessary for unemployed to have received home relief in order to now get a W.P.A. job if their resources or family income are not sufficient to get along on.

A conference of the city engineering staff and W.P.A. Superintendent Hallinan and his staff was held in the mayor's office this morning at which it was decided that the W.P.A. needed approximately 200 more men at this time to complete the projects which have already been started or have received federal approval.

Men Asked to Apply

Able-bodied men who are unable to obtain employment in private industry, and whose income is not sufficient to get along on, are asked to apply immediately for certification at the local welfare department in the city home. Under Mr. Herzog's latest emergency ruling, it is not necessary for applicants for W.P.A. employment to have previously received relief or to be now eligible for relief.

Court Test of Veto Power Expected

G.O.P. Leaders at Albany Arrange Payment

Albany, N. Y., May 24 (P)—A court test of Governor Lehman's veto power was expected by some Republicans today as GOP legislative leaders, defying the executive, arranged payment of $44,163 for the investigation of subversive activities in New York city schools.

Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck and Senate Majority Leader Joe R. Hanley signed vouchers authorizing withdrawal of that amount from the legislature's contingent fund for back pay to attorneys for the legislative investigating committee.

Paul Windels, chief counsel, was listed for $25,000, with $13,332.28 and $5,833.30 earmarked respectively for Phillip W. Haberman and J. G. L. Molley.

Governor Lehman, voting a $47,000 item for counsel fees, said another $100,000 appropriated to the investigation by the 1941 legislature should be "amply sufficient" for all expenses. Republican Senator Frederic R. Couder, New York city chairman of the committee, later asserted the veto had "played into the hands" of subversive elements and "may work a harm that a hundred of Governor Lehman's defense speeches can't undo."

Republican majority leaders contend the $47,000 was appropriated to the legislative contingent fund to compensate for any committee expenditures, rather than to the committee itself. The veto therefore, they hold, only reduces the fund total and does not restrict their power to make payments from it.

May Probe in Westchester

White Plains, N. Y., May 24 (P)—The Dies committee investigating un-American activities may hold hearings in White Plains soon, it was learned today, to inquire into Communist and fifth column operations in Westchester, particularly reported efforts to sabotage the voluntary registration of citizens for defense emergency work.

Teddy Goes to Grave

Cambridge, Mass., May 24 (P)—A teddy bear won on a beach trip half century ago went to the grave recently with Mrs. Carrie Donegan, 75, as a fond memento of her husband's courtship. Her will, filed for probate yesterday, revealed that she had directed the bear be placed in her casket along with a photograph of her husband, John J. Donegan.

Westchester Ends First Efforts at Civilian Listings

County Defense Officials Work to Register Total of 348,000; Acts Under State Law

White Plains, N. Y., May 24 (P)—Westchester comes to the end of its first week of trying to register 348,000 men, women and children for emergency defense work with "satisfactory" results despite lack of cooperation by some city officials and hitches branded as subversive efforts by "fifth columnists."

Attention is focussed on the Westchester scheme by suggestions that National Civilian Defense Chief Fiorello LaGuardia may be planning similar registration on a nation-wide basis.

The Westchester defense council, set up under state legislative authority, has charge of the registration in 18 towns, including 23 villages, "to get ready before hand for emergencies we hope will never come," in the words of Colonel Frederick L. Devereux, mayor of Bronxville and vice chairman of the council. Colonel J. Mayhew Wainwright, former congressman of Rye, is chairman.

Colonel Devereux says Communists and fifth columnists are unbelievably well-organized in trying to sabotage the registration but that the first five days of the census show satisfactory results.

Local defense councils were asked to cooperate by setting up machinery for voluntary registration of citizens from 16 to 65, but Mayor Stanley W. Church of New Rochelle said he thought the council was without authority to ask people personal questions about their willingness to serve, and that it was too soon for such a census, anyway. In Yonkers, Benjamin W. Moore, former children's court judge and former Westchester Democratic county chairman, said he had not had time to get his council started on the registration and would have set it for later.

Class Prepares Questionnaires

However, in White Plains, the local council got a grammar school prep class to prepare the questionnaires and set hours for registration at several places in the city where help could be given en masse.

Just as was the case with the federal census up-country rural towns are experiencing delay in going from house to house in outlying sections. Chappaqua, with a large New York commuting percentage, said the registration would continue next week, and Bedford said it would be Thursday before the town is covered.

Somers (Pop. 2,400) got the jump by registering everyone at a town meeting Thursday night.

In Scarsdale the women's clubs took over the work, laying out the village block by block and assigning each to a nearby resident.

Cards were distributed Monday and the first call-back for filled questionnaires was made on Tuesday.

H. McIntyre Grout, executive secretary of the county defense council, says roughly 60 per cent of the population falls in the age group asked to enroll. That is 348,000 on a 1941 population estimate of 579,000.

Nearly 60 per cent, about 209,000 of the age group live in the five cities. The county council has distributed 225,000 cards, with separate questions for men and women on their training, hobbies, aptitude and experience.

Mr. Grout said next week he will prepare charts of the county showing the potential volunteers and the number already enrolled in each community.

To Ferry Planes

Actress Faith Bennett of Hollywood is clipper-bound for her native England, where she plans to become a pilot in the Air Transport Auxiliary, ferrying planes from factories to R. A. F. fields. She is the wife of Screen Writer Charles Bennett, and a pilot for six years, holds U. S., British and Mexican air licenses.

Flier Doesn't Think U. S. Could Survive; Senator Sees End of Constitution

New York, May 24 (P)—Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) predicted in speeches last night that United States participation in the European war would mean the end of American democracy.

They spoke in Madison Square Garden at a rally sponsored by the America First Committee and attended by a crowd estimated by police at 20,000.

Lindbergh opposed United States entry into the conflict because he said, "I do not believe that our system of government in America, and our way of life can survive our participation."

It was Wheeler's thought that if the President accepts the advice of little coterie who surround him x x x he will wage an undeclared war. And then — constitutional democracy will end."

Lindbergh pleaded for leadership that would do what Washington did for us when we were only 3,000,000 people, a leadership that tells what it means and means what it says."

The country, crying out against war, he said, "demands an explanation of what happened at the elections last November. It demands an accounting from a government that has led us to war while it promised peace."

Riduputes Nazi Support

Boos and yells echoed through the Garden when John T. Flynn, chairman of the New York chapter of the America First Committee, repudiated any Nazi support of the rally.

"Motor fuel supplied by United States companies has been leaving Latin American ports for Germany and Italy.

The Dutch East Indies recently have increased their allocation of petroleum to Japan and this is being refined and transported by British and American companies.

"And right here, not many paces from where I am, is sitting a man named Mc Williams. What he is doing here, how he gets in here, whose stooge he war while it promised peace."

Most Flagrant Abuses Are From Oil Firms, He Says

Washington, May 24 (P)—Declaring he had received reports that American companies had supplied war materials to the Axis powers "in scores and scores" of instances, Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) said today he would press for establishment of a joint Congressional committee to investigate.

British naval officers declared last night that the shattered remnants of the convoy had headed back for Greece and that not a single German had reached Crete by sea.

These witnesses of the fiery onset in the dark hours before dawn Thursday said the Italian destroyer sank in flames from bow to stern after a single thunderous broadside by a British cruiser's six-inch guns.

The troop-laden merchantmen and wooden sailing ships went down rammed and shell-riddled, the officers related, as three British cruisers and four destroyers ploughed again and again through the huddle of ships their searchlights cut out of the darkness.

The captain of a British anti-aircraft cruiser, the Antioch, gave this account of the carnage:

"Three cruisers and four des-troopers were steaming westward from Suda Bay (Crete) when a destroyer in our screen opened fire on a darkened ship. This was our first intimation that we were in contact with the enemy.

"We altered course, jammed on full speed, and entered the fray. Our destroyer fire was very effective. A great bonfire appeared on the ocean, apparently a merchantman burning from bow to stern.

"The first ship we saw on this cruiser actually sighted was a large Italian destroyer... it was not until we flashed a searchlight on her that we were certain she was Italian, flying the Italian ensign.

"We were at very close range and opened fire with our pom-poms. She then fired torpedoes and, avoiding them, this cruiser was masked by another one.

"This other cruiser, however, thus got a clear view of the Italian destroyer and gave her a full broadside of six-inch guns, all of which seemed to hit.

"A series of violent explosions occurred and the burning destroyer went down like a stone. Through-out the action she never had fired on his vacation.

The job finished, a half-day of vacation remaining, officer and

Mrs. Sinoe left for a bit of re-laxation.

Meantime their three-year-old daughter, Joyce, and Kenneth

Riddle, 3, discovered the remaining half-gallon of gray porch paint and the soaking brushes.

They latched the front of the house, steamed their way around it, gave the refrigerator a going-over, touched up the back fence, gave a neighbor's house a stripe and painted the neighbor's milk bottle.

Joyce was sent to bed for her part in the escapade. Her playmates came around to sympathize.

Joyce kicked out the bedroom screen and invited them inside.

Their feet were muddy but that was remedied as they walked across the bedspread into the room.

"Thank God, there's nothing to worry about here but bandits," sighed Sinoe back at police head-quarters.

No Gasoline Increases

ators of major eastern oil companies were in agreement today to hold nounced by the office of price administration and civilian supply,

Bernadine King, Battered Aviatrix, Is Ready to Try Her Stunts All Over Again

By C. H. McMURTRY

Beverly Hills, Calif., May 24 (UPI)—She walks. She drives, she swims. She's almost ready to fly again.

That's Bernadine Lewis King. Nine months ago she was given up dead. The 30-year-old precision aviatrix crashed near Wilford, Utah, after a crankshaft broke.

"My skull was fractured, my back broken, ribs fractured. My right leg was crushed, left leg broken and my face badly lacerated."

"They said I couldn't live but I said I could. Then they said my right leg would have to be amputated. Three operations finally saved it. Then I reconciled myself to life in a wheel chair. I who love to hunt and fish, to stunt, to fly cross country over uncharted mountains!"

"A few times I gave up myself. But a country doctor—he's a genius—wouldn't let me die. He saved my life."

Mrs. King was in a Brigham, Utah, hospital from August 5, date of the crash, until Christmas week.

"But I had to fight my own battle. Against the doctor's orders, I persuaded an ambulance driver to take me to an isolated tourist cabin. I arranged to have meals brought in. I lived alone 10 days. I crawled from bed to bathroom. Finally I got strong enough to stand alone."

New Year's week, Mrs. King was flown home. In her 13-room house, on a mountain top which gives her a pilot's view of her neighbors she learned to hop on her healed left leg.

Flashes of Life

Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press

Speaker Mute

Morristown, N.J.—Phillis Anderson's voice was good enough to make her the eastern winner of the American Legion's oratorical contest for high school students.

But when the hometown Legion honored her at a dinner and presented a pearl necklace and four U. S. baby bonds, Phillis couldn't talk. She had been making so many speeches her larynx was strained.

Job Opportunity

Indianapolis—Gayle S. Eads, supervisor of the Indiana employment security division's teacher placement service, has 2,490 applicants for jobs on his waiting list but none to fill a northern Indiana school position.

"Wanted," said the request, "a male teacher, Protestant, who can speak Pennsylvania Dutch, for Amish community."

Can't Lose Now

Kansas City—If good luck charms have anything to do with it, the Kansas City blues are permanent-bound again.

Mrs. Henry Honick sent the league-leaders 250 four-leaf clovers, and wrote:

"With that much luck behind you, you cannot lose."

She said it took her three days to find the clovers in her back yard.

Speed Record

Los Angeles—Mabel Claire James claims a record for speed on crutches.

It took the 24-year-old San Antonio beauty contest winner whose back was broken in a 1933 traffic accident only 26.2 seconds to cover a distance of 40 feet.

Two years ago, Miss Roberta Brawley of Ada, Okla., turned in a time of 29.4 seconds for the distance.

Unfair Exchange

Omaha, Neb.—Max P. Cosgrove likes dogs but he wants his two pet New Zealand rabbits back anyway.

In their pen he found an airdale and a Boston bulldog, both of good breeding. The owners may have same, Cosgrove announced, by returning the rabbits.

Silent Reveille

New Burnside, Ill.—Pat, an airdale dog, has put an alarm clock out of a job in Mrs. W. C. Peterson's home. For three years the animal has been awakening her daily at about 4 a. m. by touching her cheek or arm with his cold nose.

According to the new regulations the educational examination will consist of five required subjects and two optional subjects. The required subjects will be English composition and grammar, arithmetic, algebra to include quadratics, plane geometry and plane trigonometry. The two optional subjects will be selected by the applicant from among the following: United States history, general history, elementary physics, inorganic chemistry, any modern language except English.

Applicants who show successful college completion of subjects may be excused from examination in such subjects and given credits for a grade of 80 per cent in each subject.

The applicant will be required to produce an official document from the college or university he attended showing that he completed the subject as claimed and showing also the grade attained. Such documents will be checked by the examining board to insure that they cover the subject claimed and that the college is an approved institution.

The examination in inorganic chemistry will cover the scope of a standard text book used in an approved high school. The examination in modern languages will consist of a brief essay to be selected from a list of general subjects which will be furnished at the time of the examination.

Master concluded the program.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 24, 1941.

SOLDIERS' POPPIES

The American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, who are sponsoring the annual Buddy Poppy sale in Kingston today, took the name from the poppies of Flanders Field. Disabled veterans make the gay little artificial poppies which are offered to the public at this time every year to raise funds for relief work among such veterans and their families.

In spite of the many unusual demands this year upon sympathy and generosity, the Buddy Poppy should not be neglected. New emergencies have not ended the troubles of the people the poppy sale money aids. Our continued support or desertion of them is an indication to today's young men of national gratitude or ingratitude toward the nation's defenders.

NEW ACCIDENT NEEDS

After a period of steady decrease, accidents in industry increased 10 per cent in 1940 over 1939. The figures for 1941 may be even worse. In March, for example, deaths from occupational accidents were seven per cent ahead of those in March a year ago.

The Red Cross explains it as the natural result of the speeding up of industry. There are many men on jobs new to them who go to work before they know all the hazards involved. Motor accidents are increasing, too. They reflect a greater amount of traffic. Also greater use of by-roads and unimproved roads to carry men and supplies to military camps or to new industrial plants and other new construction.

Effort will be made to keep accident figures as low as possible. For this purpose, the American Red Cross is organizing hundreds of volunteer first aid groups in factories, office buildings, colleges, hotels and elsewhere. Such groups will have 15 to 50 members and will be recruited from the two or three million persons who have had some Red Cross first aid training.

Educational work goes along with first aid work. It is up to manufacturing concerns and responsible persons generally to provide the additional safety equipment proportionate to the increased employment, and to teach workers how to avoid accidents. No doubt some rise in accidents must be expected, but it should be kept to a minimum.

FILMED AIR MAIL

Large batches of mail, involving many thousands of letters, have been going home to the British Isles from the fighting forces in Africa and other distant points in a new form. Mail that would normally weigh many tons is reduced to pounds. The trick is accomplished by photographing the original letters on microfilm and sending the tiny rolls by airplane. When they arrive, the "air-graphs" are printed—restored to normal size—and delivered.

It is clear that this method saves much valuable space. It is also more certain of delivery than if it had to travel by sea. What it must mean in supporting the morale both of the men who write the letters and the families who receive them is incalculable.

The arrangement ought to work both ways, insuring that letters from home reach the men overseas who need them. It could be extended also to large batches of mail to and from this country, if necessary.

Use of microfilm to preserve bulky records and manuscripts in small space and for other purposes is not new. Its application to personal mail of military forces may be preparing the way for much more common use of it after the war.

JAPANESE INFUSION

The pretended Japanese ambassador at the fake court of Nanking, in occupied China, complains that "Chiang Kai Shek is being infused by the United States with the idea that he is fighting for the sake of democracy."

At this lament Americans are inclined to grin and remark, "Well, that's just too bad, isn't it?"

The patient and resourceful Chinese leader is really being "infused" with a good deal more than the democratic idea. There is a strong infusion of American war sinews, in the form of big credits for war materials and big shipments of those same materials. There are good war planes, and also help in improving the famous Burma Road and keeping it open for supply trains.

Meanwhile the Japanese plans to conquer China, drive white devils out of the Orient, and take their properties, appear somewhat "diffused." But you never can tell in that part of the world. So our naval and air forces in the western Pacific, and British forces at Singapore, are on the alert.

HARD WORDS

Our English language becomes ever more fearful and wonderful. Especially in some of its advertising phases.

For instance, a large advertising agency, while paying generous tribute to the value of newspaper ads, rejoices over "the fundamental advantages of selectivity and flexibility particularly important in today's merchandising." And we've seen and heard a lot of other business facts and hopes expressed in the same grand but somewhat baffling style.

Now we suppose such a bunch of words must mean something to an advertising man. But no mere reporter or editor would dare say anything so cryptically and polysyllabically—if the same reader will pardon a moment's aberration. Long words are horribly catching.

And we seriously doubt whether such language would sell any papers, or any eggs, or much else in ordinary lines of selling.

We also doubt whether it is really necessary for anybody, even in the inner shrine of journalism, or in any other practical business, to flaunt that kind of language.

"Darkest Africa" may become darker than ever, in spite of the white fringes, as native tribes are equipped with the latest and best means of killing people.

The French are reported as saying they can't understand why we should help Britain. Well, we can't understand why they should help Germany.

Life grows still more overwhelming as camera men become "cinematographers."

The unsolved problem of American life is how fast to let 'em drive.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

RELIEVING LOW BACK PAIN DUE TO INJURY

For a number of years after the X-rays were discovered, a good picture of the spinal column with its bones and ligaments and its connections with the hip bones, was difficult to obtain. This made treatment of low back pain and sciatica rather difficult and operations to "steady" the spinal column upon the hip bones were not numerous.

Today with the great advances made in X-ray equipment it is possible to get a splendid picture of the lower back region. In this region there is the joint between the last spine bone and the hip bone, and the joint between the last spine bone and the bone that lies between the two hip bones—at the back. If anything happens to these joints—a strain, sprain, dislocation—it means that top "half" of the body cannot be firmly set or attached to the lower half.

Injury to these joints can be caused by lifting, a fall, swinging a golf club, a misstep, or other accident. The usual treatment is rest, plaster cast to hold joints together for some weeks, a Goldthwait or other brace supports the joints but allows the patient to move about. In severe cases, operation may be necessary.

Nearly all cases of low back pain due to injuries can obtain relief without operation, that is by rest, heat, and supports. And even in severe cases, operation to fasten the "loose joints" together is now available so that low back weakness and severe pain going down the leg, can be relieved.

It is clear that this method saves much valuable space. It is also more certain of delivery than if it had to travel by sea. What it must mean in supporting the morale both of the men who write the letters and the families who receive them is incalculable.

The arrangement ought to work both ways, insuring that letters from home reach the men overseas who need them. It could be extended also to large batches of mail to and from this country, if necessary.

Prosecutor in Aluminum Company Litigation Resigns—to Take Post With Aluminum Manufacturer

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, May 24 — For nearly three years the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice has been conducting a suit to dissolve the Aluminum Company of America, and the man who has had charge of the prosecution is Walter E. Rice.

Today comes the announcement that Mr. Rice has resigned his government post to become vice president of the Reynolds Metals Company, makers of aluminum and recently the beneficiary of a $40,000 loan from the R.F.C.

Just a little more than a year ago — March 19, 1940 — there appeared in the Scripps-Howard papers a dispatch by Charles Lucey in which he wrote:

"Last month, Secretary Ickes announced contracts for 60,000 kilowatts of hydro-electric power from Bonneville and Grand Coulee dams had been signed with the Reynolds Metals Company for aluminum plants. About that time the government about $40,000,000.

"These arrangements, it is learned, were made with the support of Walter E. Rice, Justice Department attorney who has been directing the government's suit to break control of the Mellon-Davis interests (Aluminum Company of America) in this vital defense industry."

The above set of facts is chronicled not with the idea of suggesting that there is any impropriety in Mr. Rice's acceptance of a high-salaried post with the Reynolds Metals Company — because unquestionably Mr. Rice learned a good deal about the aluminum business when he studied up for the anti-trust suit and hence becomes a valuable man to the Reynolds Company — but to draw attention to the chain of events whereby the Department of Justice, instead of confining itself to its tasks under the law, plays an extra-legal role in trying to undermine the defendants whom it is prosecuting in court.

Despite all the talk about monopoly, the Reynolds Company is about to produce 100,000 pounds a year and will doubtless go beyond that figure. Mr. Reynolds, president of the company, is an active personality well liked in Washington and he has had the good judgment to select for his aides some of the men who used to be employed by the Aluminum Company. He has done this notwithstanding the advice given the O.P.M. the other day by some senators that it must not rely on the experience and knowledge of Aluminum Company executives and experts.

The Reynolds Metals Company has not hesitated, on the other hand, to give jobs to officials who (Reproduction rights reserved) by army and navy officials and by local motor clubs.

California, which prides itself on its great highway system, miles of access roads, with an estimated construction cost of $28,600,000. At Camp San Luis Obispo, for example, traffic between camp and the town already is running to 5,000 cars a day and increasing. At the Consolidated Airplane factory, about 6,000 cars of factory workers are parked in fields adjoining a main-line artery. Think what happens when shifts change and these 6,000 cars pour at once onto an already busy highway. In other defense areas in California, 2,000 cars an hour have been clocked in a single lane of two-lane traffic roads.

Between Chanute Field and Champaign, Ill., 12 miles of one of the state's most important north and south highways (U. S. No. 45) has become a traffic glut.

There are some 60,000 men in training there and the highway is a sub-standard 18-foot road, with two traffic lanes and poor surfacing.

When you have to put on big-scale army maneuvers like those held in the East two years ago; in Louisiana and Texas last year; and those scheduled to center in Tennessee in May and June, you can't decide on the site of operations solely on a basis of how much private traffic you are going to disrupt.

Concerning these last you can take the sweating and swearing of hundreds of thousands of motorists who already have been through it and of the several states, counties and cities which had to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars repairing damaged highway surfaces, broken down shoulders, and rickety bridges.

Down To Cases

As far as the camp and plant areas, let me give you a few individual reports made to the American Automobile Association ton Roads area there has been a 190 per cent increase in traffic deaths over the first quarter of last year."

In Florida the traffic situation is also acute and an army colonel at Camp Blanding is reported as saying that "all the heavy guns and artillery are virtually prisoners at Camp Blanding due to poor roads in that area."

These are typical cases, and government and private road officials here assure me that they may be multiplied hundreds of times over to get a true picture of what national defense is doing to the highways of America.

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, May 24 — A number of changes have been made in the management of business places in Woodstock during the past week. Since Harold Scism will run the Knife and Fork restaurant in its new location, the corner store of the Longyear building the old site of the restaurant will be opened this year as a five and ten cent store. The property belonging to George Risley Sr. has been rented by Grace Drake for three years. Mrs. Drake will have the co-operation of James Shaw who has been interested in the operation of ten cent stores in New York. This is the first enterprise given to him notwithstanding the advice given him by O.P.M. the other day.

The store also belonging to Mr. Longyear and operated up to a short time ago by Mr. Bell, as the Palace Food market will be opened as a dry goods store in the near future. The store will be run by Mr. and Mrs. Grimes. The Grimes have also rented apartments in the Woodstock Hotel.

The store also belonging to Mr. Bragg, a federal aviator, bombed the city from the air with Liberty Bond circulars and a letter addressed to Edward Coykendall, who was very active that year in promoting the sale of Liberty Bonds here.

The Woodstock fire and drum corps had rehearsal Wednesday evening in preparation for Memorial Day.

Postmaster Bell has purchased the Alexander Peacock property on the Rock City road.

The Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen will open its new shop May 30.

Mrs. Marcena Fredenberg spent a day at her home here early this week.

The Woodstock Country Club was purchased Saturday when 35 people, members of the club voted to complete the deal. Some of the votes were sent in by proxy. In addition to the club house the purchase includes the acreage comprising the ninth green of the golf course.

A costume dance will be given at the Art Gallery on Thursday.

The annual quiz was held at Town Hall, Wednesday night. The judges were Carl Eric Lindin, Bruno Zimm and Alice Henderson.

The winners were Henry Lane and Helen A. Quirk; of Woodstock; Willow, Dorothy Shultz, (no boy); Shady, Roland Foxwood and Norman Reynolds; Bearsville, Richard Peterson, and Jackie Franklin; West Hurley, Donald Rice and Catherine Mac Auliffe; Lake Hill, Mayetta Sonnenberg, (no boy); Zenia, Eleanor Elwyn, (no boy); Glenford, Evelyn De Graff and James Ryan. ting him off from oil and other vital supplies without which he cannot carry on war indefinitely.

Germany's might in the air has been clearly demonstrated in the battle of Crete. Of course, the withdrawal of the Royal Air Force from the fight was due to their lack of air bases near to the island, whereas the Axis is plentifully supplied with handy airdromes.

Still, even had the Allies possessed bases, it is far from likely that they would have been able to stand up against the great fleet which Hitler is operating in the battle. Britain hasn't the planes yet to enable her to maintain many planes in the eastern Mediterranean.

Thus, the battle of Crete has developed into a struggle between Hitler's warplanes and John Bull's warships. It provides an intensely interesting spectacle, though I doubt whether the relative merits of these war arms will be demonstrated, no matter how the fight comes out.

We do get this thought, however:—warplanes can be built rapidly to supply Britain's deficiency, whereas the construction of warships takes so long that Germany has no hope of creating a surface navy.

The moral of this would seem to be that one of the foremost items in America's aid to Britain should still be warplanes. It is equally clear that speed in manufacture is of the utmost importance.

Mamaroneck Man Not in Contempt In Relief Issue

Mamaroneck, N. Y., May 24 (P)—Rosario Chirillo returned today from a New York state sponsored trip to Ohio and declared ended his case of "deportation" for illegally receiving relief cash. He paid the bus fare back.

County Attorney, William A. Davidson concurred with the cobbler, saying that by returning Chirillo was not in contempt of county court ordered the removal at the request of the Westchester public welfare department.

Chirillo came back with his younger son, Louis, by train after taking an overnight bus from Wooster, Ohio. Another son, Joseph, who was escorted with them by train across the state line Monday remained in Wooster with his mother and her son by a former marriage.

Mr. Davidson said the county would start all over with the removal proceedings if Chirillo received relief within a year. But the shoe repairman said he had no such intention but would "just sit and wait for business" he expects the publicity to bring.

Before the war the United States imported more than a million dollars worth of cloves and vanilla beans from Madagascar every year.

No Opposition Expressed At Bus Petition Hearing

No one appeared Friday evening at the public hearing held by the railroad and bus committee of the Common Council on the petition of William J. Deyo, who operates the Creek Locks-Kingsburg bus line, for permission to amend the bus route by eliminating the stop at the downtown bus terminal.

County Judge J. Edward Conaway, who represented Mr. Deyo, said that the petitioner planned to amend the route in the city was granted, to apply to the public service commission to amend his route outside the city so as to supply bus service to the hamlet of New Salem, entering chair and Maid-of-Honor Marion Britt, is on the right. Alexander Bell Honored

America honors the inventor of the telephone, Alexander Graham Bell, with the 10-cent stamp, fifth of the inventors group and final issue of the Famous Americans series. Although his invention of the telephone brought him fame and wealth, transmission of speech by electricity was not Bell's life work.

He devoted most of his time to teaching deaf mutes to speak. His wife was one of his pupils.

Bell's grandfather was an instructor in speech, his father invented a universal phonetic alphabet, which was devised to allow a person to reproduce sounds of any language.

As a lad, Bell and his brother "invented" a mechanical speaking head which attained a screeching "mama" before being abandoned.

Poppy
Earth did not bear this poppy in sweet fields
Where wren and throstle sail into the sun.
No petal drowsed in pools of summer rain.
One fashioned this whose march in days are done.
A man-made poppy stemmed upon a vine.
A flash of green and bloom of paper-red.
Bought in the market place among the throngs:
"How many, sir?" These were the words he said.
"Give, brother, what you will." To help the boys—he spoke as in command—
"There is no charge; give anything at all!" The paper-bloom lay prisoned in my hand.
"Give anything at all!" The sentence paused In memory—long after he had gone.
To fling a silver coin, was that enough,
While they made sacrifice of blood and brawn?
I thought of sightless eyes in white-cot wards
And deaf ears stretched to catch a nightwind's lorn.
What could I give proportionate with men
Whose hearts were broken on the cross of war?
If flesh be flung, and strength, upon life's field
To arch youth's dream of peace across the earth,
Only to die, could that now make amends?
God! Who can pay the price this poppy's worth?

THE SACRED DAGGER

By Rita Mohler Hanson

YESTERDAY: Anne Willard, with Blaze Sherwood and Pete Mackey, have landed in the middle of a Mongolian snowstorm, and are now in the reasonably tolerant custody of the headman of a tiny village. He plans to take the lot of them to the authorities, and Anne has gone to find a woman who speaks English, hoping that she may persuade him to give them some help. The woman has taken refuge in a sheepfold from her irate husband.

Chapter Six Sudden Plans

THE woman had already bedded down for the night. She sat up amiably and lighted a candle when Anne appeared. Presently she admitted that she understood and could talk a bit of English, that she had known all along the travelers were English and not Tibetan, though she had told no one. Her name was Khalima.

Anne showed her a coin, and the woman's eyes gleamed. She agreed gladly to circumvent the men of her family and save the white woman from being taken to the Emir.

At the same time, she declared, the safest place to hide from the Emir was in his own palace. His wife, the princess, would help them and contrive an escape across the border. She also had attended a mission school. Khalima was a slave girl at the time. Now Khalima's mother cooked in the kitchen.

They could easily gain admittance with Anne in disguise. Tonight they should go to a serial house across the hills on the main caravan route to the capital.

All this sudden and dramatic planning left Anne a bit breathless, but she determined to follow the woman. At least it was better than facing imprisonment. Khalima went busting about in the snow, wrapping herself in sheep skins and binding her feet in rags when suddenly they heard foot-steps approaching.

Sherwood appeared. "You stayed away so long you had me worried," he said, coming to Anne out of the gloom. "Have you been able to talk to her?"

"I have," she replied, motioning for him to sit down beside her on a pile of fleeces. "Khalima's feeling resentful against all men just now and thinks we can make her relatives believe I wondered away in the storm and became lost. They'll not make much effort to find me since I'm only a woman, she says, because a woman who cannot take care of herself is not worth worrying about. She's going to hide me."

"Where?"

"I'd rather not say. I'll be helped to escape across the border to Chuka."

He petted an inquisitive sheep that came up and nosed him. "Even the sheep find you irresistible," she jested.

"I hope that's a lesson to you to cease fighting me," he grinned.

She shook her head. "I'm one of those disagreeable independent girls."

"There's a remedy for that—when I have time to get around to it." He pushed the sheep away. "Did your father send a note by the Nagara priest who met you?"

"How do you know that man was a priest?" she asked. "He had a woman with him and he talked to me in English."

"Both of them together are one priest."

She stared at him. "What kind of mathematics is that where one plus one equals one?"

Doddap

HE LAUGHED. "What did you think of those two who came to you?"

"They were strange," she said thoughtfully. "Less childlike and shy than most primitive people, but somehow more—dangerous."

He nodded. "Smart girl. You're going to be a credit to our profession. You haven't told me yet if your father sent a note by the Nagara priest."

"Why didn't you stay that night at Jus Masar and find out?"

She looked at him curiously. "Just why were you there?"

He hesitated a moment. "I wanted to see the girl who rated receiving the Nagara dagger."

"And what about the little bird that warned you?"

"Oh, that," he laughed. "It was the hermit who lives nearby. He made friends with him."

"How did you know I'd be there?"

Doddap divined it. He's a prophet, a seer. I didn't believe him but I flew over just to—" he faltered and smiled—"to see if he was right. And there you were. I guess he's got me going."

They gazed at each other until she brought herself back with an effort. "Yes, father sent a note. Would you like to know what was in it?"

He gave her a sidelong glance. "He told you they had been cap-

June Weddings Will Share In the '41 Sentiment Boom

By AMY PORTER
AP Fashion Editor

The year 1941 will go down in history as, among other things, a time of great sentiment. A boom time for sentimental songs, sentimental clothes, and sentimental weddings.

Sentimental June weddings are likely to be a bit more expensive than the casual kind, what with lacy veils and diamond rings and multitude bridesmaids, but nobody seems to mind.

Of the 113,000 girls who get married each month, 84,000, or about 75 per cent, get engagement rings.

The engagement ring isn't necessarily expensive. A survey of jewelers shows that about half of all engagement rings are priced at $50 or less. Only once in five years do the jewelers find a bridegroom willing and able to buy a $100,000 ring.

Wedding bands, too, are sentimental once again after about ten years of severity in styling. New ones, made of gold or platinum, are elaborately carved and often set with diamonds. Engagement ring and wedding band often are selected at the same time, in related styles—and usually the bride helps with the selecting.

Wedding bouquet idea evolved by Emmett Holcombe: If the gift from the bridegroom is a diamond clip, have the clip attached to a separate cluster of flowers in the center of the bride's bouquet. After the wedding the bride pulls out cluster and clip for wear on the lapel of her going-away costume, then tosses the rest of the bouquet to the bridesmaids.

Four Lessons in How to Walk Gracefully

1. In a correct walk the moving foot should encircle the other. Ankles should show in this picture.

2. The hugging process should extend to the knees and thighs. Top curve of calf of forward moving leg hug each other closely as fits over its mate.

3. A good stride is forthright, with no hint of weakness. The body weight must be well forward, but not so as to give the least suggestion of stiffness. When in doubt about length of steps, make them shorter.

4. Rear view of a stride should be attractive. The perfect walk reveals a minimum of light between the knees and ankles.

CONVERSATIONAL CHARM HAVING OTHERS TALK OF THEMSELVES: THE BORE? HE TELLS THINGS YOU DON'T WANT TO HEAR

The long-tested rule for charm in conversation is to be interested in the people you are talking with and to persuade them to tell you about themselves and what they think. If you want to bore people to tears, talk unceasingly about yourself and your opinions. When you can make others want to tell you about themselves, you can award yourself an order of merit and be fairly sure that you have been found interesting and attractive. This is an answer to a college student who asks, "What can you give one who is eager to acquire charm in conversation? Will you also explain, if you can, the characteristics of a bore?"

To this last I can answer further that a bore is one who insists on telling you something you don't want to hear. The greatest bore I ever knew used to read up on a subject in the encyclopedia and then recite it almost word for word to those who were unlucky enough to find themselves within conversation distance.

Enclosures With Social Invitations

Dear Mrs. Post: When sending invitations, to which visiting cards of other members of the family are to be included, could these be attached to the invitation itself by means of a small paper clip? I ask because I have never received any that were fastened together like this and wondered if there was good reason why not.

Answer: There are only two occasions when cards may be fastened together. The first is the announcement of a baby's birth, by means of the little card of the baby tied to that of the parents.

The second is when a husband's and wife's card, or perhaps those of other members of the family, are tied to a wedding present or to flowers sent from all of them.

But it would really be queer to clip other cards together. If they are put in the envelope with small ones in front of the big one, I can't see how the former could be overlooked. But if necessary we can be sure that the envelope's opening is cut down in a deep V so that it shows the top edge of the small card. The "good reason" you inquired about is probably that enclosures fastened together with a paper clip would be suggestive of business advertising enclosures.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper for a widower to give a woman friend (to whom he is not engaged) a necklace for a birthday present?

Answer: Ordinarily no—of course not. That is, not if it is a valuable piece of jewelry. On the other hand, if it is not at all valuable piece of present-day "costume jewelry" and the man is an old friend, such a gift might be quite proper. Safest advice, it seems to me, is that if he doesn't know her very well, he would be wiser to choose the conventional standbys of candy, flowers and books. Or he might follow the rule of, when in doubt, ask her if she will accept whatever he has in mind before buys it.

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is, "Visiting Cards and When To Leave Them." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 150, Times Square Station New York, N. Y.

Before she opens them, you as hostess read this little verse: "While we don't believe that just cooking's enough, we're sure it does help when love's pathway is rough!" If mothers are invited, have each give her favorite recipe to the bride. The daughter can give the utensil used in making it.

Mme. Novatna Eats, Drinks and Is Merry —And Dies an Actor's Thousand Deaths

By HERMAN ALLEN

AP Feature Service Writer

New York—Mme. Jarmila Novatna eats with gusto close to a dock-hand, will take a drink now and then, is merry most all the time—and loves to "die."

Slim despite her appetite, Mme. Novatna is one of the top sopranos of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and her favorite roles are those in which the heroine dies, like in "Manon," "La Traviata" and "La Bohème."

"Dying is so dramatic," she explains. "Besides being born, it is probably the most dramatic thing that happens to a person. I don't know of any roles calling for a soprano to be born, so I take dying roles every time I can."

"Dying gracefully is the hardest test of a singer's acting ability. It is so difficult to resist the temptation to wave the arms and be over-dramatic. Most of the heroines die quite, anyway, except a few like Butterfy, who stabs herself."

Died' For Reinhardt

Mme. Novatna did some of her best dying for Max Reinhardt, with whom she worked in Europe before coming to America in 1939. She is Czech by birth.

Her first role with Reinhardt was a top-notch dying part—Antonia in "Tales of Hoffman." She appeared in many Reinhardt productions and worked in motion pictures as well. One of her best films was the French version of "One Night of Love."

It was getting toward lunch time as Mme. Novatna discussed lightly of death high up in her Fifth Avenue apartment. She tossed her head—a characteristic gesture—stole a glance at Central Park lagoon and changed the subject to eating.

She had just stepped off the train after a concert tour of the South and could think of little else than a marvelous discovery she had made in New Orleans—"something like little lobsters."

She wasn't sure just what it was, but it was very good. Finally she decided it might answer the de-

Likes American Food

The first thing Mme. Novatna did when she got off the boat in 1939 was to have lunch. She promptly fell in love with American food—corn on the cob and apple pie, especially, and all kinds of sea food. She is sold on fruit juices, too—never had them in Europe.

She's perfectly honest about why it is she likes American cooking:

"It is so much lighter than European food. I can eat more—and oftener!"

Fashion Show at Fair

One of the features of the English Village Fair which is being held by St. John's Church in celebration of the 109th anniversary of the founding of the parish, will be the fashion show Tuesday evening.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Fassett of Pearl street are spending the week-end in Norfolk, Conn., as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. L. Taylor.

Mrs. John Clarke of North Newington, Conn., entertained at dinner Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Clarke's mother, Mrs. Newton Fessenden of Fair street. The supper, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Clarke, of this city, and Lucius Nims of Greenfield, Mass., was attended by members of the immediate families.

Mrs. Bertha Peckerman entertained a number of her friends at her home on Marius street Wednesday evening. Two tables of bridge and one of pinochle were with those of today.

The talk will also emphasize the fact that modern style makers have borrowed liberally from their predecessors of the 19th century.

Another feature of the show which should prove of particular interest to the audience is two family groups, one of two generations and one of three generations who will model styles. Two groups of sports tandems contrasting the sports fashions of grandma's day with those of today will add a touch of real humor to the revue.

Some 20 models will take part in this century and a half style parade which will begin at 8:30 o'clock. Members of the committee working with Mr. Goldman in arranging the show are Mrs. Louis Kegler, Mrs. Joseph Garland and Miss Grace Reeves.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Emergency: A tenant and the superintendent of a small East Side apartment house were witnesses in a recent law suit which aroused so much bitterness among the litigants that threats were freely made. Late the other afternoon, the super, on coming up from the furnace, found his wife had received for a box, wrapped in plain, stout paper, and addressed to his fellow witness. The more he looked at that box the more menacing it seemed. Finally, thinking he heard ticking, he dumped it into a pail of water. As he was reaching for the phone to call the bomb squad, it rang. And on the wire was the tenant who wanted to know if his dress shoes, which he had sent out to be fixed, had been returned, the matter being important as he wanted to wear them at a formal dinner that night. The shoes were fished out so fast only the wrapper was soaked—and the super made a deft replacement job of that.

Midtown Midnight: A burly young man begging for a dime so that he might sleep in bed instead of "carry the banner" Theater marques, brilliant only a few minutes earlier, now dark A ceaseless throng meandering along Broadway and with units sifting silently into side streets The Paramount clock with both hands vertical A crowd of young people clotted in front of the Astor arguing over where to go for the rest of the evening The scent of perfume and the flash of jewels Two pretty girls smiling at two soldiers who give one look and sheepishly sidle into a bar Crowds watching free advertising shows produced electrically.

Church Service Schedule For West Park and Esopus

The following are church services in the Esopus and West Park area:

Church of the Ascension, (Episcopal), West Park. Brother Edward, O. H. C., lay reader in charge—Sunday at 8 a. m., Holy Communion. No Sunday school during the summer. Holy Communion and sermon at 10:30 o'clock. Young People's Society meeting on Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Methodist Church, Esopus, the Rev. Frank Coutant, pastor—Sunday school on Sunday at 10 a. m. Evening worship at 7:45 o'clock, with singing by the Junior Choir. Children's Day will be celebrated on the second Sunday in June.

Sacred Heart Church, (Catholic), Esopus, the Rev. George Blenheim, C. S. R.—Sunday Masses at 7:30 and 10 a. m. May devotions on Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

To help prevent cut bananas from darkening, sprinkle the slices with French dressing and store in refrigerator until time to use.

Error: Speaking of the theater, the favorite approach to an actress wanted for a benefit, as everyone knows, is flattery. The other evening a grand dame came up to Helen Craig, star of "Johnny Beilina" at Ballet Russes to induce her to appear at a society party. "You know Miss Craig, I think you do the best acting job in town at the moment," she began. "When I saw your play, I couldn't take my eyes off you for a moment. The way you walked, talked and moved your hands, it was marvelous. And the way you raise and lower your voice to fit the action!" Miss Craig stopped her right there. In "Johnny Beilina" she portrays a deaf mute.

Another: Victor Mature of the movies, was invited to a dinner the other evening and when he arrived, his hostess gushed, "You know everybody at the table, don't you, Mr. Mature? Oh, you simply must meet Gertrude Lawrence, star of 'Lady in the Dark' because she's simply marvelous!" Mature didn't know exactly what to say about that. He is merely one of Miss Lawrence's leading men in the musical hit.

End Piece: Maybe it was spring that caused Joe Reichman, band leader, to recall the two weather prophets who found themselves in disfavor in the small farming community in which they lived.

"I think we'd better pray for a little rain," suggested one.

"I think," returned the other, "we'd better wait until there are a few more clouds."

Woman Shoots Ducks Over Limit—With a Camera

NEW ORLEANS.—Miss Lorene Squier of Harper, Kan., shoots more ducks than anyone else, perhaps—but she uses a camera instead of a gun.

Miss Squier went into the Delta migratory waterfowl refuge around the mouth of the Mississippi river to spend several weeks making "action shots" of wild ducks before they start back north to their summer homes.

The expedition was just another leg in the journeys of thousands of miles Miss Squier has made in recent years to photograph ducks.

Ten years ago, she explained, she realized that her home state offered comparatively few waterfowl subjects for her camera because of drought conditions there.

So she began in the Canadian wilds, where she found plenty of subjects during the summer. She went through Saskatchewan, to the Mackenzie delta on the Arctic coast, the Athabasca delta, and on to Hudson's bay, Baffinland, Greenland and Ellesmere island.

Coconut waffles add appetite appeal as dessert for luncheon or supper. Make up waffle batter, pour into hot iron and sprinkle with coconut. Bake as usual and serve hot with hard or orange sauce or maple syrup.

Ash trays need frequent cleaning. Soak in hot soapy water, wipe dry. If there are any stubborn stains, remove them by lightly scrubbing with steel wool or a stiff brush dipped in hot sudsy water.

Shiny New 'Bars' Draw Britons to Potato Feast

LONDON.—Lord Woolton, food minister, amazed Great Britain's war-time trenchermen by announcing the opening of potato bars—unusual convivial spots where one can get all the potatoes he can eat for 20 cents.

The ministry displayed a new bar, appointed with an eye to stimulation of the appetite and to handsome effects, with glittering fixtures and pert girl attendants.

Berwin, Mrs. Charles Seligman of the Spillway road invited members of Kingston unit to her home for their annual picnic June 12.

All those who have attended other such picnics held at Mrs. Seligman's home will remember the hospitable time enjoyed.

Two current Mexican film successes are to be shown in Spain.

Marian Martin
PATTERN 9726

There's nothing quite so demurely charming as a shirtwaist and skirt style! Pattern 9726 by Marian Martin is doubly intriguing, for though it looks like a two-piece more, it's really just a one-piece frock, with the trim waistband set in to fit smoothly beneath the softly bloused, gathered-in bodice lines. Use cool eyelet batiste contrast for the bodice or, if your prefer, make the whole dress of one fabric. You'll love the young, round neckline bordered by its wide, round yoke. A lace edging around the yoke and the bands of the short sleeves looks appealingly feminine; the sleeves may be in a long, full voile. Too, the skirt is cut in two sections.

Pattern 9726 may be ordered only in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 requires 2 1/4 yards 39 inch fabric, 1 1/4 yards contrast and 2 1/4 yards lace edging.

Bob Bush Will Hurl Opener For Recreations on Sunday

Locals Start Season With Game at Copake Falls; Hoffman Sees Team Ready for Year

The Kingston Recreations with a strong team ready for action, will open their 1941 season Sunday afternoon at Copake Falls. Game time is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

With the Fallsmen slated to use a lot of righthanded batters Manager Joe Hoffman intends to send young Bob Bush, the No. 1 moundsman of last year's staff to the hill in hopes of chalking up the first triumph of the season.

Other possible starters will depend upon the Fallsmen's pitching choice. Hoffman stated this morning if a lefthander hurls for Copake, Abe Masci of Middletown will play second and Jimmy Ashdown will be in the outer gardens. This means that George McLean, regular second sacker of last year and Vince Smedes will be on the bench. Both are portside swingers.

"I'm interested to see young Bush in action this year," Hoffman said. "In all of the 1940 games he showed me a lot of stuff. I watched him many times from the grandstand and was convinced that he is about the top-flight pitcher in the section."

Now with Hoffman coaching from the dugout Bob expects to get a lot of service. Along with Bush the Recs have the services of three other standout moundsmen in Charlie Neff, Jimmy Martin and Al Proia, the latter two southpaws. Neff is a holdover from last season.

Additions Help Club
"We've had a lot of practices," Hoffman announced, "and I'm quite positive my club ball is in good shape for the opener." The manager went on to say that the new additions to the club, namely Charlie Francello, Abe Masci, Bing Van Etten, Jimmy Ashdown, Charlie Lay and the others will do the club much good. He also heaped praise on his two catchers Joe Brodsky and George Kowalczyk, former player with the Atlanta Crackers.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, May 24 (AP)—Manager Doc Prothro has put his foot down on Hugh Mulcahy's plan to pitch a Sunday game or two for the Phils this summer when they're in Boston. . . . "Might ruin his arm," says the doctor. . . . "He'd want to bear down and wouldn't be in proper shape." . . . Although Wyoming U. didn't win football game last year, Bunny Oakes, the new coach, is promising a championship team in three more years. . . . Applicants for umpiring jobs in the National Semi-Pro League not only must send along a certificate that their eyesight is O.K., but also an affidavit that they have no prison records. . . . George Halas has begun his campaign to land Tom Harmon for the Chicago Bears with a letter so sugary you could almost eat it.

Might keep an eye on Bookie Beckwith, hard-hitting 170-pounder from Gary, Ind., who has won 15 in a row, by knockouts.

If and when Jerry Priddy gets back into the Yankee line-up, it probably will be at third base.

Anyway, that's where he's working out these hot afternoons.

Strike Three

A certain big-league ballplayer spent most of the other afternoon trying to flirt with a blonde in one of the third-base boxes. . . . That night he saw her sitting two tables away from him in a Broadway restaurant. . . . When her escort excused himself for a moment, the player walked over and said, "How about ditching that guy and meeting me later?" She gave him a cold stare and squealed: "At any rate you're consistent." You didn't get to first base at the ballpark all afternoon, either.

Baer Is Granted Appeal to Commission Today; Challenger Makes Good Showing

By GAYLE TALBOT

Washington, May 24 (AP)—Unwilling to be labeled the 17th victim of Joe Louis since the Alabama negro became heavyweight champion, Buddy Baer today put a claim in against the boxer's title on the grounds he had been fouled by the blow that ended their fight.

Through his manager, Ancil Hoffman, the towering Buddy had a date (at noon, EST) to appear before the District of Columbia Boxing Commission to argue that he should be the champion instead of the loser on a disqualification in seven rounds of the battle put on before 23,192 paying customers in Griffith Stadium last night.

"The last blow of the fight," Hoffman said upon being granted the hearing by the district commission, "was struck at least three seconds after the bell sounded ending the sixth round, and thus was illegal. The timekeeper, Major Ernest H. Brown, told me that."

"Arthur Donovan was the referee and should have realized that. You know, we had to accept Donovan (who was brought from New York) as the referee. Otherwise, we wouldn't have been given the shot at Joe."

Youth Released in Custody Of East Paterson Police

Edward Feher, 19, of East Paterson, N. J., arrested here on a charge of petit larceny in the theft of some milk bottles, was turned over to Police Chief Bonner of East Paterson and the boy's father, when the case came up for a hearing before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court today.

Mrs. Margaret Sasso, 21, of Lodi, N. J., who was the traveling companion of Feher, had her hearing adjourned for three days.

According to the story the boy's father told Judge Cahill his son and Mrs. Sasso had been going together for some time and he had attempted to break it up. Several days ago the youth had come home and gone to his room, as his parents believed, but instead he had gathered his clothes together and left the house by way of his bedroom window, met Mrs. Sasso and in an auto had driven north getting as far as Kingston when picked up by the local police on the charge of stealing milk bottles from the porch of a house on North Front street.

Protests to London

Vichy, Unoccupied France, May 24 (AP)—The French government is protesting to London through the United States state department, against British seizure of the French tanker Sheherazade while she was crossing the Atlantic with a British navire. The British admiralty announced capture of the 13,467-ton tanker Thursday. She was said to be carrying a full cargo of American oil for north Africa. The oil was said to have been purchased by the Moroccan and Tunisian governments with the agreement that it would not be re-exported.

Henry Delavan Frost, will speak from the theme, "A Prepared People," to honor the steadfast courage of the Huguenots who were widely known in this vicinity was owner of the Ox-Bow on the New Paltz-Kingston road and for the past four years had been chef at the Tri Delta Kappa fraternity house of New Paltz.

Washington, May 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt will report to Congress on the progress of the lease-lend program within the next three weeks. He told his press conference yesterday that a report was being prepared and would be presented to Congress by June 11, but he gave no hint as to what it would disclose. The chief executive also told reporters that a bill to authorize a St. Lawrence seaway, and power development on the international stream, probably would be introduced in Congress next week.

STREET SCENE: MEN AT WORK

A broken water main six feet below the surface at West 167th street and Edgecombe avenue, Manhattan, caused this pavement collapse and required a crew of men to repair the damage.

Lawn Sprinkler Gadgets Suit Different Methods

A never-ending stream of new gadgets which to water the lawn continue to pour in. There are several schools of thought on the best way to get the job done. There are those who go in for tricky nozzles and always insist on holding the hose; there are others who want an underground sprinkling system; and there are others who like sprinklers attached to the hose.

Something new in sprinklers are those that are used with short sections of hose, 10 or 25 feet, and attached between these to be placed about the lawn. With such an arrangement a large area can be watered at the same time, from one faucet.

Sometimes it is most desirable to get a very fine spray, and one with two fine screens included in the head of the nozzle solves this problem. In fact, so fine is the spray that the water is little heavier than a mist when it is released.

Another style goes to the other extreme with one very small hole in the end of a cap. This so increases the pressure of the stream of water that it would be excellent for washing the car, or windows or porch.

A new metal pellet which contains Vitamin B1 has been made to be inserted into the nozzle end of the water hose. When the water rushes through, the vitamin filters into the stream, and onto the grass.

One nozzle design includes a rubber tube which can be dropped into a bucket of lawn dressing or Vitamin B1. The little tube acts as a syphon and sucks the plant food up into the water stream.

About to Admit Defeat

London, May 24 (AP)—The ministry of labor, deluged by complaints that "proxy shoppers" don't know a bargain, whether in beets or boots, is about to admit one defeat on the home front. The idea was to do the shopping for women unable to leave their factory jobs. Members of the W.W.S., Britain's biggest unpaid women's war organization, including many socialites, accepted the task. The experiment convinced the W.W.S. shoppers that no woman thinks another can shop as well as she.

can. Result: The ministry is considering shorter shifts so factory women can do their own.

Another 'First'

Atlanta, May 24 (AP)—Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., the retired "grand slam" champion, has another "first" among his long list of accomplishments. He toured the outward nine of the East Lake course in six-under-par 29 yesterday, his first card under 30 in his long career. Jones shot six birdies and three pars. He had an 18-hole total of 66, three over the record 63 he holds for the course.

Six Kingston Men in Service

Kerhonkson Has Moving-Up Day At High School

Students at the Kerhonkson High School celebrated their annual Moving-Up Day exercises yesterday with a bright display of colorful costumes and competition in public speaking, singing and dramatics.

Robert Greene, this year's Student Association president, announced the officers who were elected for 1941-42. They are: Robert Lacy, president; Millard Beuler, vice-president; Irving Backinoff, treasurer, and Charlotte Zaffert, secretary.

Esai Berenbaum acted as school song leader and conducted the Alma Mater as well as the Moving-Up Day song. Florence Green was elected grand marshal. The class marshals who assisted were: Elzada Lacy, Marjorie Orgel, Genevieve Slater, Natalie Gallagher, Doris Greene and Jean Wiley.

Robert Terwilliger of the Junior High School group captured first place in the speaking contest. Freshman Max Horowitz was second and Senior John Krom was third. In the song competition, the Junior Class was first, the Seniors second and the Junior High third. The play directed by Esai Berenbaum of the Junior Class was awarded first place. The Freshmen took second, the Sophomores third and the Seniors fourth.

The entire morning was given over to field day which included such events as sack races, human croquet, short dashes, potato race, three-legged race, relays, jumping and throwing events.

The Freshmen just nosed out the Juniors to capture honors in the boys' athletic competitions with a total of 30 points. The Juniors, who came in second, accumulated 28 points. Third and fourth places went to the Sophomores and Seniors respectively.

In the girls' competition, first place was won by the Junior High School with a total of 33 points. Second and third places went to the Sophomores and Seniors respectively, and the Freshmen and Juniors tied for fourth.

Moving-Up Day competition included finals in archery, softball, horseshoes, tether ball and tennis.

The Freshmen were the winners of the Moving-Up Day trophy accumulating a total of 50 points out of a possible 70.

The remaining classes placed in the following order: Juniors, Seniors, Sophomores and Junior High School.

About the Folks

Albert Kresig of St. James street is recovering from a recent appendectomy at the Benedictine Hospital where he was taken May 13.

Under-Sheriff J. W. Feeter, who has been off duty for the past week or so, fighting a bronchial cold, was at his desk in the court house this morning.

Handy Household Tips

When house plants have been frost bitten, put them in a cool dark place until they thaw. Do not keep in a warm room and do not water for two or three days.

Unless the baby's milk bottles are completely covered by water when sterilized, they will not be germ-free. Better have at least three inches of water above the bottles when starting to boil.

If you have a rather bare room, dress it up with a hanging shelf or two painted to harmonize with the color of the room furnishings. Put small colorful objects or little pots of trailing vines or other greenery on the shelves.

For a jiffy meal, beat up two eggs, add a cup of canned mushroom soup, one-third of a cup of sliced cheese, and salt and pepper. Heat in a double boiler until a little thick and pour over hot boiled rice, macaroni, crackers or toast.

This group includes the 92 cities with a population of 100,000 or more. New home building in these 310 American cities in 1939 totaled the highest in value and volume in 10 years, according to the annual national home building survey of Investors Syndicate recently made public.

"Volume of new homes last year was more than 10 times (10.4) the 1934 total, the low for the decade," explained C. J. Ryan of the company.

"Value of these new residences was almost 10 times (9.8) the low total hit in 1934."

Contributing substantially to these record breaking figures was the smallness of the advance, only four-fifths of 1 per cent, in average cost per person provided with new housing over the preceding year.

"Rapidity of residential construction last year, the fifth successive year to record gains, is emphasized," said Ryan, "by the fact that both value and volume increase were the largest year to year rise during the decade."

Unless the baby's milk bottles are completely covered by water when sterilized, they will not be germ-free. Better have at least three inches of water above the bottles when starting to boil.

New residential construction last year in these same cities provided for 61.7 per cent more people than in 1930, when only 519,192 were newly sheltered.

Plane Flights Aid in Fight Against Hay Fever

Medical science took to the nation's airways in 1940 on behalf of 4,000,000 Americans suffering from hay fever.

Transplant planes participated in a coast-to-coast series of experiments, each carrying oil-smeared slides at altitudes ranging to 12,000 feet. The surveys were sponsored separately by Oren C. Dunham, a Chicago botanist, and the Hollister-Stier laboratories of Spokane, Wash.
